COLLECTION SUMMARY
of the
WAYNE R. CARTLEDGE COLLECTION 1901-1966

The Wayne R. Cartledge Collection was originally donated to the West Texas Historical and Scientific Society's historical collection. The collection was donated to the Archives of the Big Bend by the West Texas Historical and Scientific Society. Donation date of the collection to the West Texas Historical and Scientific Society is unknown; however, the Society donated the collection to Sul Ross State University in 1968.

Wayne Rollins Cartledge was born April 2, 1887 in San Angelo, Texas to Eugene and Nannie Cartledge. The family moved to Austin, Texas in 1894 where Wayne began his education. In 1895 he attended White's Academy in Austin. His father was an attorney and a land specialist associated with the law firm of Cochran and West. His father's legal research gave Howard E. Perry title to a disputed section of land and the richest cinnabar ore in the Terlingua district. In 1907 Wayne met Anna Josephine Dowling who was working at the Seton Infirmary in Austin. They were married March 8, 1908 in El Paso by a Catholic priest, Father Ray. Wayne and Josephine moved to El Paso where he went to work for the Pullman Company as Assistant Commissary Agent. He resigned in 1909 and they came to Terlingua on July 10 to work for Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. Perry and the Chisos Mining Company.

In 1910 Wayne advanced from store clerk and bookkeeper to store manager and purchasing agent. Robert Lee Cartledge, Wayne's brother, joined the Chisos Mining Company as store clerk in 1911. A son, Eugene Harris Cartledge, was born to Wayne and Josephine on December 2, 1913 in Austin. That year Wayne bought Castolon and lands to the north and became general manager of the Chisos mine. Howard E. Perry and Wayne Cartledge formed a partnership in 1918 which became the La Harmonica Company. The partnership consisted of a farming, ranching, mining, and mercantile business in the lower Big Bend country.

Wayne served as Road Overseer under the County Commissioner of Precinct 4 and supported road bond issues. At the same time the U. S. government was using the area called Camp Santa Helena as a military outpost, the La Harmonica Company broadened its production of crops (wheat, corn, beans, and melons) and included hogs, turkeys, honeybees, cotton, fruit trees, permanent grasses, and crop rotation. The La Harmonica Company became fur dealers in 1920, dealing in hides, furs, skins, and wool and mohair, until 1940. They were also a selling agency for candelilla wax and handled this product into the 1960's. During the years 1920 through 1940 Wayne was a member of the American Remount Association and a breeder of stallions for the government. He was elected County Commissioner of Precinct 4 in 1922 and was also the mail carrier-contractor for U. S. mail from Alpine to Terlingua until 1926.

Camp Santa Helena was officially abandoned in 1923 and Cartledge's bid of $1,280.00 was accepted for the sale of the buildings in May of 1925. Wayne's request for the designation of Castolon as a legal post office was approved in 1926 and the Castolon post office functioned until June 30, 1954, when it was taken over by the National Park Service. A program was begun by Wayne to enlarge his-ranch land holdings and in 1926 he bought quality heifers and registered bells. In 1926 the Perry-Cartledge partnership was certified in Brewster County. Wayne resigned as general manager of the Chisos Mining Company in 1927. Robert was appointed as general manager by Mr. Perry and held that position until he was fired in 1940. The U. S. government, under the Agricultural Adjustment Act, condemned and destroyed ninety-two head of Cartledge livestock and compensated him for the loss. A commercial type hunting preserve was begun by Cartledge in 1935, with Eugene as director and representative of the Game, Fish and Oyster Commission for the Mule Ear Ranch Hunting Preserve.

While attending the University of Texas in Austin, Eugene met Minnie Mae Schletze. They were married after they graduated in September of 1936 and moved to Castolon. In 1936 Wayne turned his business over to his son and daughter-in-law and made Eugene a partner. Wayne bought the Normand-Morgan Ranch forty miles south of Marfa and left Eugene to run the Castolon ranch. He entered the Farm-Ranch Management Program in 1937 but this activity declined until 1941 when privately owned lands in the area were being acquired for the Big Bend Park.

On December 2, 1938, Eugene shot and killed T. Meade Wilson over a fence dispute on his father's ranch. Eugene and Wayne were tried and acquitted in August of 1939. Production at the Chisos mine declined after 1936 and on October 1, 1942, the Chisos Mining Company became bankrupt and was sold to the Texas Railway and Equipment Company of Houston, Texas. Wayne and Eugene formed a livestock farm products business around 1943 which became known as Cartledge and Son. The business was located in Alpine and Marfa. Wayne served as Trustee for the San Vicente School in the mid 1940's.

The Big Bend Park was established in 1944 and Cartledge's ranching activities were gradually reduced each year with allowances on the number of livestock permitted on pasture. Howard E. Perry died December 6, 1944. Finally, in 1957, Wayne Cartledge signed a deed transferring the Cartledge-Castolon properties to the U.S. government. The La Harmonia enterprises declined until their final disposition to the National Park Service in February of 1961. This marked the end of the farming, ranching, mining, and store operating activities of the La Harmonia Company.

Wayne sold the Normand-Morgan Ranch to the Baugh Brothers for $10.00 an acre. They then leased a small ranch near Comanche, Texas for two years. They moved to the 9K Ranch in the northern part of Culberson county. This ranch was sold and they purchased the Hovey Ranch. Wayne then bought a home in Marfa where he and Josephine lived. Josephine died on May 8, 1950 in Marfa, Texas and is buried in San Angelo. Eugene died of cancer in an El Paso hospital on January 21, 1960. He is buried at Elm Grove Cemetery in Alpine, Texas. Wayne remarried in February of 1961 to Mrs. Henry T. (Lois) Fletcher. They were married at Minnie Mae's home in Alpine and lived in Wayne's home in Marfa. Minnie Mae married Bill Everidge in 1967 and resided in Alpine. They shared part interest in the Hovey Ranch with Wayne. The second Mrs. Cartledge died February 22, 1968 and is buried in Marfa.

Several uranium claims were filed by Wayne in Presidio County and other places. He was retired from the ranching business in 1969. Wayne Cartledge died at his home in Marfa on February 17, 1972 and is buried in the Fairmont Cemetery in San Angelo. Minnie Mae is now (1981) living in San Antonio.
The material is housed in folders contained in nineteen archival boxes. Large blotters and a ledger are located in the oversize area. The papers are arranged alphabetically by folder according to subject and company name, and chronologically within those categories. The arrangement is as follows:

Store items-hardware, groceries, dry goods, medical supplies, ranch, farm supplies, and sundries. Wholesale distributor for United States merchandise, trading post acted as banker and safe keeper of valuables, used by USDA to distribute cotton acreage checks and act as weather bureau for the department. Early 1920's W. R. Cartledge buying quality heifers and bulls-in 1932 he branded 200 calves

TIMELINE

By 1901 Cipriano Hernandez family living on flooX"plain. 1st Anglo-American to purchase holdings there was Clyde Buttrill with assistance of James L. Sublett (a dirt contractor) enlarged and leveled farm and put it under irrigation. 1919 region taken over by W. R. Cartledge. -Early in development of trading post La Harmonia attempted to establish themselves as "selling agency" (small and carload lots) for marketing of candelilla wax and sought right to distribute sulphuric acid used in process of extracting wax from candelilla plants. Most of wax sold was produced in Mexico and handled wax into 1960's 1918 W. R. Cartledge entered partnership with H. E. Perry forming La Harmonia Co. which consisted of farming, ranching, mercantile business. W. R. Cartledge was manager thru 1961.

1919 United States Government used buildings as military outpost-constructed barracks, and leased land from Perry and W. R. Cartledge 1919 La Harmonia farm broadened production of wheat, corn, beans, and melons to include cotton hogs, turkeys, honeybees, fruit trees, permanent grasses, crop rotation.... crops (except cotton) not financially successful-improved standard of living and diet of average family.

1920-1940 La Harmonia Co. fur dealers-hides, skins, furs early 1920's W. R. Cartledge began program of buying quality heifers and registered bulls.

1921 La Harmonia co. name registered with county clerk, Brewster County

1921 Permission to move store into barracks until government needed them again. Government renewed leased annually.

1922 Cotton shipped to El Paso, La Harmonia farms planted cotton and shipped to Houston

1923 La Harmonia had complete one-stand cotton gin from Continental Gin Co. and 1st bale ginned. Ginned 146 bales, in 1923, served until 1942-over 2000 bales lint cotton 1923 Official order issued for abandonment of Camp Santa Helena. Also disposition and sale of all government owned buildings at Camp. W. R. Cartledge trips to Camp Marfa to submit bids.

1924 W. R. Cartledge entered request with Post Office Department for Santa Helena to be designated as a recognized legal post office refused and told to select another name. Castolon selected and designated 1926.

May 1925 W. R. Cartledge bid accepted ($1280) La Harmonia had used and occupied buildings (barracks) since 1921.

1926 Partnership certified with Brewster County. Post Office designated Castolon as new mail station.

1926 W. R. Cartledge program for enlarging ranch land holdings

1927  W. R. Cartledge resigned as general manager of mine to become Perry's partner in general store at Castolon.
1938  No cotton planted due to low prices. Gene Cartledge takes over management of farm.
1940's-1961  Decline of La Harmonia enterprises until final disposition of properties to N.P.S. in February 1961, due to personal illness of W. R. Cartledge, inability of Texas State Parks Board and W. R. Cartledge to arrive at satisfactory price for transfer of his properties to state for park purposes and extensive effort by W. R. Cartledge to dispose of his land and acquire ranch holdings elsewhere.

TIMELINE CONT.

1941  Headquarters for Big Bend Land Department of Parks Board opened in Alpine to acquire control of privately-owned lands, W. R. Cartledge felt appraised value of land too low, and made many efforts to dispose of Castolon property.
1941  Irrigated farming had problems of sufficient supply of seasonal labor, also insects, drought, floods, and great distance to markets-limit development of irrigated farming in lower Brewster County.
